WE MAKE THE TRANSFER PROCESS SEAMLESS.

We know that transferring to a new school can be stressful. We are committed to ensuring that your transfer to Westminster is as smooth as possible. Here are some quick notes about transferring to Westminster:

» A maximum of 72 semester hours of course credit from a regionally accredited two-year institution—and a maximum of 88 semester hours of course credit from all regionally accredited four-year institutions—can be accepted for academic coursework.

» Schedule an appointment with our dedicated admissions staff for a one-on-one appointment to talk about your application, transfer credits, and financial aid opportunities.

» Start an application and send in official transcripts for evaluation by our Registrar’s Office to determine which credits will transfer. Official transfer evaluations are generally processed within 48 hours.

» We offer several open houses designed specifically for transfer students throughout the year. During these events, you can meet with admissions counselors, faculty, and current transfer students to ask questions about becoming a Griffin. Throughout her college career, Kiana has transferred three times—two of which were to Westminster, the place she felt most at home. Kiana began her first year at College of Charleston in South Carolina, but quickly realized that wasn’t where she belonged. “I wound up transferring to Westminster for the spring semester of my first year and I absolutely loved it,” Kiana says. “It was the first time I felt completely settled on a college campus.”

When her grandfather became ill her sophomore year, Kiana had to transfer yet again for a semester to the University of Vermont. After that difficult time had passed, Kiana knew she wanted to be back at Westminster. By spring of 2017, Kiana was where she felt the most at home. “Transferring confirmed to me how the campus at Westminster operates different from other schools,” Kiana says. “They are able to be very welcoming to students in situations like mine.”

Kiana says that she received support from not only campus administration, but her professors were also instrumental in their support and guidance, helping her change from business to a custom major. “Westminster is by far the most supportive campus I’ve been on,” Kiana says. “My advisor and I came to the conclusion that a custom major would be the best path for me. The genuine excitement that she has had over me being happy again with school is really special.”
